CITY DADS ASK MERCHANTS' AID

Extend Invitation to Business Men Generally to Attend When Meeting Is Held for Passing of Year's Budget

That the city commission is not only anxious that no citizen interested shall not be informed as to the city's business and that the city fathers will always welcome advice and suggestions from the various business organizations is evidenced by the following invitation for attendance at the time the commission and city attorney meet for the purpose of passing the budget for the ensuing year.

This invitation was signed subsequent to the meeting of the commission last evening. That the name of Commissioner Woods does not appear thereon is probably due to the fact that he left the commission chamber immediately after the conclusion of the meeting and was not to be found when the other members were affixing their signatures.

The invitation is self-explanatory. It follows:

To the Business Associations of the City of Phoenix: GENTLEMEN—Continuing the subject of Ordinance No. 6, which has engrossed the attention of so many during the past several days and has been the most misinterpreted of any subject in the recent history of Phoenix, the Mayor, Commissioners and City Attorney have decided to extend a cordial invitation and respectfully request that each business association in the city appoint one delegate or representative to meet with the Commission and City Attorney when they meet for the passing of the budget for the ensuing year.

While Ordinance No. 6 is chiefly a codification of the numerous old ordinances under which the city has been governed in the past, yet its principal new feature is intended by the Commission as an Emergency Measure to meet temporary conditions until something better can be devised, and the city officials have thought it well to have the representatives of the different organizations present at this meeting and let them take part in the discussion as the budget is taken up by sections in order that they, as well as the members of the City Government, might be fully informed in the actual needs and requirements of the city for the ensuing year.

Kindly send in the names of your different representatives to the City Clerk that they may be notified, in ample time, of the date of said meeting.

GEO. V. YOUNG, Mayor,
W. J. FOLEY,
JOSEPH COPE,
P. CORNSTEIN,
Commissioners.

SANTA FE ADOPTS NEW CHECKING PLAN

Arrangements whereby travelers over the Santa Fe can check baggage direct from their residences in Phoenix to any part of the United States, were recently completed by Harry Isaacs, assistant general baggage agent with the Lightning Delivery company of this city. This arrangement, which is now in effect with both lines of railroad entering the city, is one of the recent steps toward facilitating the handling of baggage, and its installation in Phoenix marks another step in advance of the city along metropolitan lines. Its adoption by the Santa Fe has been largely due to the efforts of W. S. Goldsworthy, general agent here, who has been furthering the movement for some time.

LEATHER LIFTER JACK FOLMER

Man Who Snatched Purse from Mrs. G. W. Kane Was Man Who Committed Suicide in the Stockton Jail

The man who snatched a handbag containing a purse from Mrs. G. W. Kane one night in the middle of April was Jack Folmer, the husband of Mrs. Grace Thompson, and who committed suicide in the jail at Stockton after his arrest at the request of the authorities here. That was established yesterday when Mr. Kane called on Mrs. Thompson at the county jail yesterday. The handbag in which Mrs. Kane was carrying the purse was afterward found and that was identified by Mrs. Thompson as one that was brought to her room by Folmer and another man.

Mrs. Thompson described the contents of the purse, between $30 and $40 in money and some papers, among them a draft. All the contents except the money were burned. The draft was issued by the New York Life Insurance company. The amount of it was $42. Mrs. Kane had already indorsed it. After the loss of it the company was informed and in due time Mrs. Kane was informed that she would have to put up an indemnifying bond. That was done but the payment of the draft is still pending. Mrs. Thompson said that she would sign an affidavit to the fact that the draft was destroyed and it is thought that on that affidavit the company will issue a duplicate draft.

Mrs. Thompson said that frequently during her and her husband's stay in the city he and a companion would come to their rooms laden with plunder. They did a thriving business in pocket picking during the Elks meeting about the middle of April.

A member of the gang was F. L. Ostendorf who is wanted for several varieties of fraud. Ostendorf represented himself to be a partner in a wholesale grocery firm of San Francisco. In fact, his traveling card announced that he was the head of the firm. He sold a bill of goods to C. P. Rogers of Cashion. Some days later he called on Mr. Rogers and told him that the goods had been received in Phoenix. He proved it by presenting a copy of the bill of lading made out in due form, showing him to be the consignee of a lot of merchandise awaiting in a freight house here. Mr. Ostendorf needed a little money and on the presentation of the bill of lading Mr. Rogers let him have $52 for which he was given a receipt. That was but a small part of the amount of the bill.

Mr. Rogers has since been unable to locate the goods, the wholesale house or Mr. Ostendorf.

SAN MARCOS APPEALS TO A RAILROAD MAN

His Surprise at Seeing the Handsome Chandler Hotel

Chas. S. Fee, general traffic manager of the Southern Pacific railroad system, with headquarters at San Francisco, stated to a Republican reporter yesterday that he was amazed at finding so beautiful and so perfectly equipped a hotel any place in Arizona as was the San Marcos at Chandler.

Said Mr. Fee, while seated on the roof of the San Marcos, enjoying the cool breezes from the southwest and the only perfect moonlight in the world, that of Arizona and especially of Chandler. "I think the idea of the San Marcos summer club is a great one. With this beautiful building for club quarters, as fine a dancing floor as you can find in the world, the moving pictures and above all the sweet balmy air off the vast fields of alfalfa, there is mighty little excuse for any Phoenixian going to the coast for the summer.

The "Spend the summer and your money in Arizona" idea is a mighty good one for the state if it is hard on the railroads, and believe me the railroads have already begun to feel the difference in west-bound traffic conditions over the same time last year, but good luck to you just the same."

Mr. Fee was accompanied by Mr. Jerome Fee, his son, Mr. Frank E. Batters, general passenger agent with headquarters in Los Angeles, Mr. E. W. Clapp, general freight and passenger agent of the Arizona Eastern with headquarters at Tucson, and Mr. Wesley A. Hill, the owner of the Phoenix Globe stage line, and the man who expects to haul ten thousand people over the scenic Roosevelt road during 1915. The entire party left Chandler with the idea that this should be railroad headquarters whenever it should be necessary for them to spend a night in the valley during the summer months.

GOVERNOR AND PARTY DINE Governor George W. P. Hunt with a party consisting of Sam Barrett, Mrs. Chopin Hall, Myrtle Garrison, H. W. Worcester, William Patterson and Harry Shay stopped en route from Florence to Phoenix Sunday evening long enough to dine at the San Marcos. Governor Hunt is one of Chandler's best and most consistent boosters.

PHOENIX VISITORS Mr. E. J. Koch, auditor of the Chandler Improvement company, was a business visitor in Phoenix Monday. W. J. Lewis, secretary of the Chandler chamber of commerce and secretary of the Salt River Valley Cotton

NOT A TEMPTING OFFER

He was an idle Irish boy, but he had the Irishman's ready wit. He had shipped on board a man-of-war, where he annoyed the boatswain by his laziness. Seeing him on the main-top one morning gazing idly out to sea, the boatswain called out to him: "Come down out of that, ye rascal! Come down out of that, an' O'll give ye a dozen whacks wid me rope."

"Faith, sorr," replied the boy, "O! wouldn't come if ye offered me two dozen!"—Pearson's Weekly.

COST OF PEACEFUL PRESSURE

"Peaceful pressure" on Huerta to salute the flag, resign the provisional presidency and eliminate himself from Mexican politics has cost the United States so far the lives of seventeen sailors and marines and a little more than $6,000,000 in cash. What the total cost will be in lives and money will depend on future developments. And how much of this expense could have been avoided by adopting a different policy in dealing with the Mexican situation is a problem for experts in such matters to figure out. —Springfield Union.
